

Fellow Car Dealers,

In Europe, North America and parts of Asia the online car market has become more and more important. Within these areas, over 50% of all car transactions are initiated through the Internet.

Two main advantages of using the Internet, for car trading, are:

1. Today, people are using the Internet to find cars. These are potential customers that will find you when your showroom and your offers are online.
2. Business to Business. When a customer asks for a car which you do not have then use our online databank to find this specific car and source through another seller or dealer.
